REPORT OF ONE DAY ORIENTATION PROGRAM

ON

DATE: 01/01/2023

It takes into consideration of all the facets related to teaching –learning process and adopts upsurge strategies as required. In this connection, as scheduled by Marathwada ShikshanPrasarak Mandal, Deogiri College, Aurangabad organized one day Orientation program on Research Methodology on 01/01/2023 for all senior college teachers under the purview of the parent institute.

Inaugural Ceremony:

The program was inaugurated by Prof. A.D.Sawant, Ex-Vice Chancellor, University of Rajasthan.Prof. Dilip Khairnar, vice-principal and convener of the orientation program put his views on organization of the said workshop in his remarks. Prof. A .D. Sawant in his key-note address on Recent trends in Research Methodology spoke on basics of research in any discipline and added with stress that Research should bring positive changes in the individual and in the society.He further said that it is an act in pursuit of Truth. When we talk ofResearch Methodology, we not only consider the Research Methods but also the logic behind the methods we use in the context of our research study and explain why we are using a particular method or technique. The subject ‘Modern Trends in Research Methodology’ is probably a call to all scholars & students to familiarize themselves with the latest trends &tools associated with research methodology being advocated in the environment. He gave numerous examples from his own research and experiences to show how research may lead to upliftment of society. He concluded saying that commitment, dedication and strong will are key factors for doing the best research. Prof. Ashok Tejankar, Principal of the college, in his presidential remarks stressed on society oriented research to resolve the basic problems of the people. He said that it is very essential for a good researcher to look at the hypothesis in various angels to come to appropriate conclusion. Dr. Vishnu Patil anchored the inaugural ceremony and also proposed vote of thanks.

Session I:

This technical session was addressed by Prof. Arun Kharat, School of Life Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi who addressed the audience on How to Write Research Proposal. In his talk, he mentioned that there are various funding agencies that sponsor for fruitful research. He said that writing research proposals take too much labour and minute attention He added that the proposal that are useful for society at national and international level. In a research proposal, the goal is to present the author's plan for the research they intend to conduct. In some cases, part of this goal is to secure funding for said research. In others, it's to have the research approved by the author's supervisor or department so they can move forward with it. In some cases, a research proposal is a required part of a graduate school application. In every one of these circumstances, research proposals follow the same structure. In a research proposal; the author demonstrates how and why their research is relevant to their field. This session was anchored by Dr. Rajesh Shesham.

Session II:

Prof. Gulab Khedkar, Director of the Paul Hebert Centre for DNA Barcoding and Biodiversity Studies, Dr. BAMU, Aurangabad talked on Research Ethics during this technical session. He said that research must be the result of original, innovative ideas; merely copying predefined proposal will lead no-where. He informed the participants that many of the norms of research promote a variety of other important moral and social values, such as social responsibility, human rights, and animal welfare, compliance with the law, and public health and safety. Ethical lapses in research can significantly harm human and animal subjects, students, and the public. It should come as no surprise that many different professional associations, institutes, government agencies, and universities have adopted specific codes, rules, and policies relating to research ethics. Many government agencies have ethics rules for funded researchers. In his concluding remarks he said that honesty, objectivity, integrity, carefulness, respect for intellectual property, social responsibility and usefulness are essential characteristics for any researcher. Dr. Avinash Dhotre anchored the session and also proposed vote of thanks.

The program was well organized through formation of required committees comprising of teachers and monitored by Vice Principal Dr. Anil Ardad and Vice Principal Dr. Aparna Taware. More than three hundred teachers of the senior colleges run by MSP Mandal took active participation in the said orientation program.

DEOGIRI COLLEGE, AURANGABAD

REPORT OF ONE DAY ORIENTATION PROGRAM

ON

NEP 2020

DATE: 07/01/2023

Introduction:

Marathwada Shikshan Prasarak Mandal Aurangabad is one of the leading educational institutes in Maharashtra catering to the educational and social needs of the masses, especially of Marathwada region. It takes into consideration of all the facets related to teaching –learning process and adopts upsurge strategies as required. Keeping in mind the positive changes are being made by the Ministry of Education of India and the impact of such changes in the area of Teaching, Learning, and Research, the college organized a one day orientation program on NEP 2020 on 07/01/223. The objective of the said workshop was to have a rigid and proper discourse on the Aims, and Implementation of New Education Policy in connection with higher educational institutes.

Inaugural Ceremony and Session I:

During the inaugural ceremony, Hon Secretary of MSP Mandal Aurangabad Shri. Satish Chavan presided over the program while Chief organizer Principal Prof. Ashok Tejankar, Vice principal Prof. Dilip Khairnar, Dr. Anil Ardad, Dr. Aparna Taware were present on the stage. Chief Guest and inaugurator of the said workshop Dr. R. N. Lenka, Former Senior Consultant (TSG-SS) Ministry of Education, delivered a talk on “New avenues through NEP: 2020”. In his inaugural speech, Dr. Lenka mentioned that The new education policy will place a significant emphasis on the contributions made by illustrious educational institutions. An educational complex will consist of a reputable schools or colleges to make group or cluster. It will be the duty of the primary schools and colleges located within the complex to bestow authority upon the ten to fifteen schools and colleges. These teachers ‘colleges are responsible for the preparation of knowledgeable educators in all of those fields. There is potential for the addition of this college in regions where there is already a diverse range of academic offerings. The new education policy has presented educational institutions with significant challenges, but it has opened up new avenues through which innovation can be pursued.

He further added that students majoring in arts, commerce, or management are obliged to carry out research for their research projects. This is a golden opportunity to give proper direction to the research and use it for the development of the country. A major step towards the transformation of education has been taken by the government in the form of a new education policy. Maharashtra has been a leading state in its achievements in the field of higher education. NEP-2020 is one of the plans to lead an educational force to build up a new India. In regard with research, Dr. Lenka asrsted that Global Initiative for Academic Network (GIAN) has also been implemented which seeks to tap the talent pool of scientists and entrepreneurs from abroad, including those of Indian origin, to augment the country’s existing academic resources. The Scheme for Promotion of Academic and Research Collaboration (SPARC), aims at improving the research ecosystem of India’s higher educational institutions by facilitating academic and research collaborations between top ranked Indian Institutions and globally ranked foreign institutions, through joint research projects involving mobility of students and faculty.

Session II:

In this session, Dr. Krishan Kant, Principal, Aggarwal College, Faridabad Haryana gave a scholarly talk on “NAAC Process and NEP: 2020”. He said that NEP 2020 promotes an outcome-based approach to education by emphasising skill development and employability. Institutions will be assessed by NAAC based on how well they are able to provide students with the necessary information, skills, and competences. He mentioned that it focuses on creating an environment for the Multiple-Accreditation-Agencies model to meet the institutions' rising needs. There is now only one national agency responsible for accrediting the thousands of colleges throughout the nation. The NEP 2020 also plans to set up a 'meta-accrediting body' called the National Accreditation Council (NAC), hence NAAC will become NAC. The formation of an Accreditation Advisory Council and the Single-Umbrella implementation model are both proposed. The borders between the arts, sciences, and humanities are blurred by the NEP 2020's promotion of collaboration between disciplines. Institutions' efforts to provide interdisciplinary research opportunities and promote multidisciplinary programmes will be evaluated by NAAC. Real-time, technology-enabled formative evaluation is advised. Additionally uses technology to gather the necessary data in order to make informed assessment and accreditation decisions.

Dr. Kant further added that NEP 2020 acknowledges the need for digital education given the rapid growth of technology. NAAC will ensure efficient online teaching and learning techniques by assessing institutions' ability to utilise digital tools and platforms. The emphasis of the evaluation criteria is on general education, skills and competencies for specialised education, and research and innovation contributions. The NBA does not cover all programs, and this gap needs to be filled in as soon as possible. NAAC's functions include accreditation; assessment; quality maintenance, and improvement. According to NEP 2020, universities would be given greater autonomy. NAAC will place a focus on institutions' ability to analyse their own performance and constantly improve through self-assessment processes. For HEIs, NEP suggests outcome-based Assessment and Accreditation (binary), and assessment-based Grading for their programs. The current assumption is that once the systems and processes required for achieving them are in place, the desired learning outcomes can be accomplished. The assumption needs to be re-examined, and the emphasis should instead be placed on evaluating the learning outcomes that HEIs are expected to accomplish.

He affirmed that National Accreditation Council (NAC), the second authoring body under the HECI will replace popular accreditation bodies like the NAAC and perform the duty of accreditation institutions based on its merits. Some of the key parameters it will strictly scrutinize include- good governance, basic norms of the institution, public self-disclosure, and most importantly the student learning outcomes ratio. Only the institutions adhering to the quality parameters would be accredited successfully. It will form a thoughtful criterion and decide the expected student learning outcomes for various institutions. Along with that, the GEC will also be responsible for creating - National Higher Education Qualification Framework (NHEQF).

Summing up:

Prof. Ashok Tejankar, Principal, Deogiri College, Aurangabad summed up the Ode day Orientation Program on NEP 2020 by saying that, today the pattern of imparting education from primary level to research level has changed drastically and hence it is must for teachers to mould themselves so as to meet changes and challenges on global scenario in the field of education. Traditional ways of teaching are to be replaced with trending styles so as to keep pace with modifications. Teaching-learning and research are the major domains in the higher education system and in the light of NEP 2020, a teacher has to play multiple roles in order to make a student competitive. He further advised all the participants to go through the manual and guidelines laid down by Central and State government in relation with NEP 2020.
