Key Benefits of Shree Anna for Farmers

- 1) Easy to Cultivate
About 80 percent of Asia's and 20 percent of the world's coarse grains are produced in our country. Cultivation of coarse grains is done in less cost and less water.
- 2) Diseases are also less in this crop, due to which the use of pesticides is also negligible. Since it can be easily grown on uncultivated land, its production can be increased manifold in India if the demand increases.
- 3) More Income for farmers.
- 4) The cultivation of Shree Anna or coarse grains requires less labor and requires less water.
- 5) This is such a grain that can be produced without irrigation and without fertilizers.
- 6) Only 25-30 percent of India's total agricultural land is irrigated or semi-irrigated.
- 7) When the demand for Shree Anna will increase, then its price will increase in the market, only then the income of poor farmers with uncultivated land will also increase.
- 8) FSSAI Calendar unveiled, celebrating International Year of Millets
